

January 2019

Church Family,

As we begin a new year, 2019 is full of opportunity and the chance to look forward to our spiritual opportunities through our commitments.

Sunday's sermon, "It Shall be a Jubilee" brought hope and excitement as we look forward to all that is happening at First Presbyterian Church. If you missed Sunday's sermon or simply want to listen to it again – you can find it, along with a multitude of other sermons on the church website (<http://www.aikenpresbyterian.org/worship-services.html>).

During this week, we encourage you to find quiet time to reflect and think about your commitment to First Pres in 2019. We hope you will commit once again (or perhaps for the first time) to join with us this year as we continue to envision what "writing a new chapter in an old story" will be for First Presbyterian Church in 2019. Commitment is expressed and exhibited in many ways and we look forward to your participation going forward.

Grace and Blessings on your Commitment path,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads 'Denny McGurer'.

Denny McGurer, Commitment Committee chair

A handwritten signature in blue ink that reads 'Brian Coulter'.

Brian Coulter, Senior Pastor